PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Matt represents employers and insurers in civil litigation. He primarily defends workers' compensation claims and advises his clients on strategies to minimize claims and reduce losses. Matt graduated from the University of Puget Sound where he studied business and economics. He worked in the financial services industry for nearly a decade before obtaining his JD from Hamline University School of Law.

Prior to practicing workers' compensation law, Matt represented individuals and businesses in a variety of civil matters. Additionally, he was a district attorney in Roswell, New Mexico where he aggressively prosecuted felonies and took many cases to trial. Matt also serves in the United States Army Reserves as a Judge Advocate and has deployed to Kuwait in support of operations in the Middle East.
